

Cabo Retreat

Leverone Design is a distinguished interior design studio known for its refined aesthetic and thoughtful approach to residential design. Founded by Matthew Leverone, the firm draws on decades of experience to create environments that are both elegant and enduring.

Specializing in high-end private residences, Leverone Design integrates architecture, landscape, and interior elements to craft spaces of timeless beauty. Each project is guided by a deep respect for context, materiality, and the unique lifestyles of its clients.

One standout project is the Cabo Retreat, a private oceanfront penthouse located in Los Cabos, Mexico. This home showcases the studio’s ability to blend contemporary design with the natural surroundings.

Leverone Design conceived the Cabo Retreat as a festive family getaway that honors its setting along the azure waters of the Baja Peninsula without relying on clichéd representations of Mexican style.

Artisanal furnishings including raffia-skirted stools, straw lamps, tasseled bedcovers, and a woven leather headboard subtly evoke the craft traditions of Mexico with grace and restraint. Complementary contemporary pieces, perfectly suited for a beach home, keep the mood light and breezy, in tune with the rhythms of modern family life. While the design feels smart and sophisticated, nothing about it comes across as overly precious or fussy. It’s a vision of resort living where style and ease go hand in hand.

www.leveronedesign.com

Photography: Sam Frost - Styling: Michael Reynolds

